FOREWORD

This document uses only metric units.

This document is an NTCIP Information Data Dictionary Standard. Information Data Dictionaries Standards formally express management information in terms of objects (data elements, data frames, and messages) for use within TCIP and NTCIP systems.

The TCIP family of standards addresses Advanced Public Transportation Systems (APTS) data interfaces and related automated transit tools and data. The standards address the business requirements of these APTS data interfaces. In some cases, specialized terms were needed to define general classes of information. For example, different business areas needed to define data elements related to time, date and footnotes. Special, constrained data types were developed so that the transit domain data concepts were consistent across business areas, while specific needs were met. These data types are defined within the TCIP family of standards and in this document.

For more information about NTCIP standards, visit the NTCIP Web Site at <http://www.ntcip.org>. For a hardcopy summary of NTCIP information, contact the NTCIP Coordinator at the address below.

In preparation of this NTCIP document, input of users and other interested parties was sought and evaluated. Inquires, comments, and proposed or recommended revisions should be submitted to:
